Overview

Sarah focuses her practice on product liability litigation and the defense of pharmaceutical, medical device, and mass and toxic tort claims. She has extensive experience with all stages of the litigation process, from pre-litigation counseling through trial and appeal, and has second chair arbitration, trial, and dispute resolution experience. She represents a diverse array of clients in multidistrict, coordinated, and consolidated proceedings, as well as putative class actions and “one-off” product liability suits. She also has experience representing individuals and corporations in complex commercial and business litigation matters.

Experience

- Handles all aspects of state and federal civil litigation, including pleadings and motion practice, pretrial discovery, trial, and appeal.
- Effectively and efficiently handles discovery, including taking and defending depositions, preparing witnesses for deposition, drafting and responding to written discovery requests, and managing large-scale electronic discovery in product liability matters.
- Represented a manufacturer in contract disputes involving a medical device recall.
- Represented various businesses in bad faith insurance claims against insurance companies that denied business interruption coverage for COVID-19.
